A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF KEAN UNIVERSITY

What are the two most important things Kean University seeks to offer its students? I believe those two things are access and opportunity. Access is a key component of Kean's commitment to making the dream of higher education a reality for its students by breaking down the economic barriers that make it difficult for many to pursue their degrees. Opportunity means that Kean provides its students with the world-class, state-of-the-art tools needed to prepare for a successful career in today's global marketplace. Opportunity and access both represent open doors and the chance for those with ambition and initiative to succeed at the things that are most valuable to them.

I am pleased to report that both access and opportunity continue to expand at Kean. Our campuses are thriving, and our financial outlook is strong and stable. We have adopted a strategic plan with specific goals that run up to and through the year 2020. These goals express the collective vision of the Kean community, and I have no doubt that we will achieve them. We are already well on our way with three important components of the strategic plan: our new programs in the fields of architecture, physical therapy, and physician's assistant. These programs were carefully chosen based on an analysis of the careers that will be highly in demand and likely to offer our students a strong foothold in the global economy of the coming decades.

The support of our Foundation donors is essential to Kean's ability to make and implement strategic initiatives such as these. I'm extremely gratified by the progress that has already been made by the Institutional Advancement team under its new Vice President, Carla Willis, in her short time here at Kean. If your name is listed in this Annual Report, then you too have been an extremely valuable member of our team. On behalf of the Kean University Board of Trustees and senior administration, and on my own behalf as well, I give you my deepest thanks.

DAWOOD Y. FARAHI, PH.D.

President, Kean University

A MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR OF THE KEAN UNIVERSITY FOUNDATION BOARD

My day job at CNBC is fast-paced and very demanding. You might ask, how can I possibly dedicate so much time to working with Kean University and its Foundation? The answer is simple: Because I love it. There is nothing more rewarding than giving back to those who need a helping hand to accomplish their goals. And the students at Kean are so worth helping. I meet many of them on campus, and at events like our annual Scholarship Reception. They never fail to amaze me with their enthusiasm and willingness to work for the things they want to achieve. They have faith in themselves and in the ability of Kean University to show them the path to success. If these young people represent the future for all of us, then that future is looking very bright indeed.

At the Foundation, we're always trying to find more ways and resources to help these students achieve the goals they've set for themselves. I'm thrilled that we now have Carla Willis on board to lead these efforts as president of the Foundation and vice president for institutional advancement at Kean. Her previous leadership as a fundraising and advancement executive at institutions including The Ohio State University and Florida A&M University made her the obvious candidate to assume the full-time management of our Foundation. She has already had an extremely positive impact on its activities and operations. My fellow Foundation Board members and I are looking forward to some very bright horizons as we continue to work with Carla and her staff on behalf of the students of Kean University.

STEVE FASTOOK H'06

Chair, Kean University Foundation Board

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE KEAN UNIVERSITY FOUNDATION

I was very pleased to be given the opportunity to lead the Kean University Foundation because I knew I would be joining a dynamic university community with an energized and motivated fundraising operation. In my view, as someone with an extensive track record in higher education and advancement, the transformation of Kean University in recent years has been remarkable—made even more so by the contributions of its donor base to that process.

Because of our donors' generosity, we have been able to create opportunities for our hardworking, deserving students that were undreamed of only a few years ago. Our academic programs and facilities are the envy of our peer institutions in the region. Our students enjoy access to the most outstanding faculty and the best scholarship program we have been able to provide to date. Our supporters have helped to make all this possible and enable us to feel confident that we can deliver to students exactly what we promised them—a World-Class Education.

But our mission is an ongoing one. Our students stand poised on the threshold of a world where the requirements for professional success and personal fulfillment are constantly evolving. So we must constantly raise our targets and strive to provide the resources that will ensure that a Kean education remains both excellent and accessible.

Thank you for recognizing the importance of investing in the futures of our students. I look forward to continuing to work with our fantastic Foundation Board, with our alumni, and with all of you who have helped make Kean University what it is today.

CARLA S. WILLIS

President, Kean University Foundation

FOUNDATION UPDATE:
WELCOMING CARLA S. WILLIS

I feel very fortunate to be leading our advancement efforts at this time and believe that philanthropy will continue to play an important part in shaping our future.

Carla S. Willis Named President of the Kean University Foundation and Vice President of Institutional Advancement

In February 2014, Kean University welcomed Carla S. Willis as Vice President for Institutional Advancement and President of the Kean University Foundation. She oversees a team of 12 development officers and support personnel, as well as the activities of the Office of Alumni Relations.

“Kean University is at a transformative point in its history, with much growth and innovation occurring,” said Willis. “I feel very fortunate to be leading our advancement efforts at this time and believe that philanthropy will continue to play an important part in shaping our future.”

Willis has over 20 years of experience as an advancement executive in academic, health care, and nonprofit settings. She came to Kean from the Wexner Medical Center at The Ohio State University in Columbus, where she served as assistant vice president for advancement, managing the medical center’s development efforts and shaping the strategy for a billion-dollar fundraising campaign.

Previously, Willis worked at Florida A&M University as vice president of university relations and executive director of the FAMU Foundation, Inc. Her résumé also includes development leadership positions at the University of Toledo, the University of Michigan Law School, and the University of Missouri.

Willis has also held consulting positions in development and communications. Earlier in her career, she ran her own consulting firm, Willis Development & Communications Associates, based in Toledo, Ohio; the company provided fundraising and development expertise to higher education, K-12, and other nonprofit organizations including Adopt America Network, Inc.

Willis entered the development field in the early 1990s at the University of Missouri as a supervisor of the Mizzou Annual Fund, following a successful career with the IBM Corporation. She graduated with honors from the University of Toledo with a B.A. in interdisciplinary studies.

She is an active member of the Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE), a nonprofit association for professionals in the field of educational advancement encompassing alumni relations, communications, marketing, and development. She is a former board member of CASE District V and chair of the district’s Committee on Equity (COE). Recently, Willis was appointed to CASE’s Commission on Philanthropy. She is a noted and frequent presenter for CASE and for the Association of Fundraising Professionals (AFP) on topics related to philanthropy and development. She was an active officer and past president of AFP’s Northwest Ohio Chapter.

FOUNDATION UPDATE: WELCOMING FIVE NEW BOARD MEMBERS

Meet Our New Board Members

The Kean University Foundation is administered by a Board of Directors, consisting of Kean alumni and friends who provide invaluable counsel in the allocation and application of donors' gifts. The Foundation Board's numbers recently grew by five, with the appointment of the following new members:

Donald Brady

Donald Brady is a consultant, entrepreneur, investor, and technologist. He was introduced to Kean University by his late wife, Kathy Hering-Brady, a 2000 graduate of Kean's Occupational Therapy program. After she passed away, Brady established the Kathy Hering-Brady Memorial Scholarship and has worked closely with the Foundation to raise funds in support of the award. He holds a B.A. degree in Computer Science from Bellarmine University (Louisville, Ky.). (See full profile of Brady on the following pages.)

Bill Loehning '70

Bill Loehning '70 is an executive vice president for Fidelity Financial Advisor Solutions (FFAS), a division of Fidelity Investments. Loehning is responsible for relationship management for the Insurance and DCIO (defined contribution investment only) clients serviced by FFAS. He joined Fidelity in 1987 as an insurance account executive. He advanced through the ranks and received several promotions before being appointed to his current position in April 2009.

Loehning is a member of several boards of directors including those of Roger Williams Hospital in Providence, R.I., and the Insured Retirement Institute in Washington, D.C. Loehning was inducted into the Insured Retirement Institute's Hall of Fame in 2009 as its first honoree from an asset management company. He is chairman of the advisory board of the Make-A-Wish Foundation* of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. He was named as one of Kean University's Distinguished Alumni in 2011 and was honored at Kean's annual gala in 2014.

Scott N. Schober '92

Scott Schober '92 is an American wireless cybersecurity expert. He has been the CEO and president of Berkeley Varitronics Systems (BVS) since 2000. The company has developed several notable devices, including one product used to help teachers and professors detect cheating activity via cell phones on exams. Others are microwave-based devices used by the U.S. military. BVS devices can also be used to root out or stop corporate espionage.

Schober is frequently interviewed in the news media as an expert in online security, international corporate espionage, and government surveillance and domestic spying. In 2013, Schober was featured in the CBC television documentary Faking the Grade, discussing high-tech devices for catching cheaters and spying on illegal cell phone use. He graduated with a B.S. degree in Computer Science from Kean University in 1992, after which he attended graduate studies in telecommunications at New York University.

Linda Tuma '83 '89

Linda Tuma '83 '89 worked for Merck for 16 years, beginning as a research chemical engineer in 1989 and retiring in 2005 as director of safety compliance. She led both the Operational Hazards Evaluation Laboratory and the Materials Evaluation Laboratory and played a leading role in career development programs throughout Merck. She developed additional hazards laboratories in England and Japan and authored over 15 papers in the field of thermal analysis and its use in the evaluation of thermal hazards in chemical processes.

Tuma served as chair of the Merck Woman's Network during 2003 and 2004, and became its treasurer in 2005. Since retiring from Merck, she has consulted in the operational hazards field and served on the Board of Directors of Swapsol Corporation and on various committees of the Merck Employee Federal Credit Union. She holds two degrees from Kean—a B.A. in Chemistry/Management Science (1983) and an M.S. in Management Systems Analysis (1989). She also holds an M.B.A. from Wagner College.

Kathleen Wilkinson '78

Kathleen Wilkinson '78 is a partner in the Philadelphia office of Wilson Elser Moskowitz Edelman & Dicker LLP. She is admitted to practice law in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. She handles complex litigation and insurance matters, and serves as a judge pro tem and settlement master. Wilkinson received a B.A. degree in Political Science summa cum laude from Kean in 1978.

Wilkinson is a well-known figure throughout Pennsylvania's legal community. She was elected as only the sixth woman chancellor of the 13,000-member Philadelphia Bar Association and served in this position during 2013. She recently began a three-year term on the Pennsylvania Bar Association's (PBA) Board of Governors, having served in the PBA House of Delegates for more than 10 years. In September 2014, Wilkinson received the Leadership Excellence in the Law Award from the National Diversity Council. She was named a Distinguished Alumna of Kean University in 2010.

DONOR AND NEW BOARD MEMBER PROFILE: DON BRADY

Meet Don Brady—Scholarship Donor, Foundation Board Member, Friend of Kean University

Kean University owes a great debt to the late Kathy Hering-Brady '00 '07, an alumna and adjunct faculty member of both the Occupational Therapy and Public Administration programs. When she died unexpectedly at age 56 in 2010, her husband Don Brady, prompted by Kathy's occupational therapy students, decided to establish the Kathy Hering-Brady Memorial Scholarship to provide assistance to occupational therapy graduate students.

From that initial gesture, Don Brady—who says that he had no knowledge of the field of occupational therapy, or of Kean University either, prior to meeting Kathy—has found himself becoming more and more involved with Kean. He became a member of the Occupational Therapy Department's advisory board in 2012. Most recently, Brady accepted an invitation to join the Board of Directors of the Kean University Foundation—which he sees as a way for him to expand his ability to positively contribute to and support the University's needs.

"Kathy thought the world of the people she worked with in the Occupational Therapy program at Kean," says Brady. "And I myself have now worked with many of the same people, which has led to collaborations with other good people in the Foundation and elsewhere at Kean. The experience has been both fun and rewarding. I enjoy interacting with people who are intellectually stimulating, who have good ideas, and allow me to soak up lots of knowledge and information while we work on finding ways to make things happen here."

Brady is a true polymath whose professional experiences and intellectual interests are extremely wide ranging. He describes himself as a "consultant, entrepreneur, investor, and technologist." First becoming acquainted with computers while serving in the U.S. Army, he started his career as a programmer with GE's Process Computer Division in 1969. Over the succeeding decades, he expanded the development and application of computer science and information technology across heavy industry, utilities, manufacturing, and the automotive and medical sectors. His most recent focus, immediately preceding his "semi-retirement" in 2012, was in the area of public safety; notable projects involved supporting the 911 infrastructure for the police and fire departments of New York City and Nassau County, New York.

Don Brady (standing, far L) with Occupational Therapy faculty, students, and students' parents at Kean's annual Scholarship Reception.

Brady sees himself as someone who took a nontraditional educational path, as did many individuals who were products of the earlier days of computers and technology. "I'm a big fan of the nontraditional elements of higher education," he says; he believes that both traditional and nontraditional methods, such as distance learning, have their place. He has watched the evolution of higher education with interest, and is concerned with how institutions of higher learning can help students to be truly productive in their lives and careers once they graduate.

This is one reason why he's glad to be serving on the Foundation Board. "I'm not an academic, and neither are most of the other Board members," he says. "We're from the world where the students are going to end up once their academic careers have finished.

"We want to make sure that students not only get the tools they need to be successful—we want them to gain an understanding of how to use those tools in ways that enhance their prospects for success."

Kathy Hering-Brady.

ROBERT BUSCH SCHOOL OF DESIGN: FALL 2014 RIBBON CUTTING CEREMONY

Kean Honors Two Benefactors of Its School of Design

Last fall, Kean University's Robert Busch School of Design officially opened its new facilities in the Green Lane Academic Building with a ribbon-cutting ceremony during Homecoming Weekend. Robert H. Busch H'03, the school's namesake, was at the ceremony and wielded the scissors for the actual cutting of the ribbon.

The same event featured the grand opening of the Edward R. Jajosky Industrial Design Lab, named for Edward R. Jajosky '64, longtime adjunct professor of industrial design at Kean. Jajosky, together with Professor Rose Gonnella, executive director of the Robert Busch School of Design, unveiled the signage over the doorway to the brand-new laboratory space.

The Robert Busch School of Design offers programs of intensive study designed to help students acquire both knowledge and technical skills, providing a solid basis for professional achievement. The school's degree programs in Advertising Design, Graphic Design, Industrial Design, and Interior Design include extensive lecture, studio, and technology experiences. Students are able to pursue practical experience in their chosen field through internships, part-time employment, seminars, and special events, including the school's own annual Thinking Creatively Conference.

The ribbon-cutting event recognized Busch's significant contributions to the Kean University community. Busch is the owner and chief executive officer of Cranford, N.J.-based ALL-STATE Legal, a leading provider of printing services and supplies to law firms and the legal industry. As a member of the Board of Directors of the Kean University Foundation, he has been instrumental in ensuring that Kean continues as an affordable, public institution of higher learning where education is both world class and accessible.

"Never would I have imagined 17 years ago, when I first became involved in what was then Kean College, that I would be standing in front of you today to have the Design School named in my honor," Busch told the assembled audience of faculty, students, administrators, and friends of the School of Design. "I've worked with Rose Gonnella for many years on a number of projects and look forward to many more years supporting Kean and the design school.

"I've been very blessed to be able to achieve what I have in life and be able to give back," Busch continued. "I urge you all to also look for ways to give back, be it to Kean or some other cause you believe in."

Jajosky graduated from Kean in 1964 and began teaching at his alma mater, then Newark State College, in 1968. He has helped generations of Kean students obtain their professional degrees in industrial design, a specialized field combining elements of art, design, and invention to produce a vast range of everyday objects from toothbrushes to the largest wide-body aircraft. He is a regular participant in the Thinking Creatively Conference.

Alumni are by far the largest category of donors to Kean University. The Foundation and Office of Alumni Relations work continually to engage Kean alumni and strengthen their ties with the University and with each other. Here's a sampling of photos from some of the major alumni events hosted by Kean University over the course of the year.

BAND OF BROTHERS

On Saturday, October 25, 2014, Kean University's Nu Sigma Phi fraternity celebrated its 75th anniversary with a gala event that drew approximately 100 alumni and current student members to the atrium of the university's STEM building.

"The purpose of this event was to celebrate our 75-year legacy on campus, and to reconnect our brothers with their alma mater," said Michael Delicio '82, the event's primary organizer. "I would hope that attendees walked away knowing that brotherhood is timeless, and that there is much that they can contribute to both the current fraternity and Kean University."

In 1939, a group of 15 students, frustrated by their inability to pledge existing college fraternities due to reasons that included religion, ethnicity, and/or choice of academic focus, decided that they would create a new fraternity founded on principles of democracy, integrity, mutual respect, and inclusion. Nu Sigma Phi was born as one of the first nonsectarian fraternities to be granted a charter in the state of New Jersey.

"We were founded by a small group of students who experienced discrimination firsthand," said Delicio. "They overcame adversity to create an organization dedicated to diversity, inclusion, service to others, and most importantly the true spirit of brotherhood. Our story and philosophy are as relevant today as they were in 1939, which is why brothers like Henry Niemira keep coming back."

Delicio was referring to Henry Niemira '41, one of two of the original 15 founders who are still alive. Niemira was proudly present at the gala, holding court at his table near the front of the room, the multicolored braid around his shoulders signifying his position of high honor within the fraternity.

The evening's program concluded with special thanks to the staff of the Kean University Foundation and Office of Alumni Relations, particularly Vice President of Institutional Advancement Carla S. Willis, Director of Alumni Relations Stella Maher, and Senior Advancement Officer Alissa Di Scala.

Honoring William Loehning '70 and New Jersey Teacher of the Year Kathleen Assini '01

On Thursday, June 5, Kean University's brand-new Green Lane Building glowed with light and resonated with music and conversation as the site of the 17th Annual Kean University Gala. Utilizing the huge space that would soon become the university's bookstore, as well as the sixth-floor conference center and rooftop terrace, the Gala gave attendees the chance to celebrate in this award-winning academic building, which has quickly assumed iconic status on the Union campus.

This year's honoree was William Loehning '70, executive vice president for Fidelity Financial Advisor Solutions, a division of Fidelity Investments. Loehning, a philanthropic leader and recipient of Kean's Distinguished Alumni Award, has maintained strong ties to his alma mater, in particular through his involvement with the Sigma Beta Tau fraternity.

In his speech, Loehning marveled at the changes that Kean has undergone over the decades since his graduation. "We are the jewel of the state university system, and that's just amazing. It's up to us to keep that going," he stated.

A fan of the singer Jimmy Buffett, Loehning quoted from one of Buffett's songs: Some never find it, some only pretend, but I want to live happily ever after, now and again. "Because of Kean University, and the brothers of Sigma Beta Tau... I got to live happily ever after, now and again," he said.

Special recognition was given to Kathleen Assini '01, recipient of the New Jersey Department of Education's Teacher of the Year award for 2013-14.

Assini—the second consecutive Kean alumna to be named state Teacher of the Year—observed that teaching had been a second career for her, necessitating a return to higher education. "However, from the moment I stepped onto the Kean campus, I found the support and encouragement I needed to complete my degree with honors," she said.

THE 15TH ANNUAL COUGAR CUP GOLF CLASSIC SEPTEMBER 23, 2014

The Kean University Foundation held its annual “Cougar Cup” golf outing fundraiser on Monday, September 23 at Fiddler’s Elbow Country Club in Bedminster Township, N.J. The event raised over $124,000 in gifts and commitments that will directly benefit the students of Kean University through scholarships and other academic initiatives and programs.

After the golf tournament, all the guests enjoyed participating in a variety of fund-raising activities including bidding on live and silent auction packages. Guest speakers included Kean student Candyce Pettinari, a senior business management major and recipient of three different Foundation scholarships. Pettinari, who lost her father at a young age, expressed gratitude for the support that opens doors for talented but financially challenged students like herself.

Also speaking was George D. Martin, the former New York Giant defensive lineman who in 2007 undertook a cross-country walk from the East to the West Coast to raise money to help cover the medical expenses of 9/11 first responders.

For the second straight year, the Cougar Cup was won by Atlas-Acon Electric Service, which was represented by a threesome consisting of Rick Froio, Rich Kromar, and Ralph Scelfo. The three players shot a winning score of 57.

2014 SCHOLARSHIP RECOGNITION CEREMONY

2014 Scholarship Recognition Ceremony Honors Philanthropy and Excellence

Hugs, gratitude, and warm greetings were in abundance at the annual Kean University Scholarship Recognition Ceremony, which was held on November 23, 2014 in the University's Harwood Arena. More than 800 donors, scholars, and their loved ones spent the afternoon connecting with one another over lunch and a recognition program.

The event honored more than 350 Foundation Scholarship benefactors and recipients. The reception featured a poignant keynote speech from senior business management major Garry Jackson II, recipient of the inaugural Adriana Brennan '92 Alumni Association Memorial Scholarship. Jackson discussed how the scholarship, named in honor of the late Kean alumni director, has helped him overcome several challenges in pursuit of his dream to graduate and attain an MBA degree.

Before presenting the donor and scholarship honor roll with fellow Kean University Foundation Board member Maria Bordas '74 '80, Foundation Chair Steve Fastook H'06 took a moment to summarize the tone of the day. "I would like to thank every one of you for your ongoing support of the University, of its students, and of the Foundation," said Fastook. "Because of your commitment, you are helping to reinforce the core principle that a Kean University education should not only be excellent—it should be accessible by any student meeting our standards for admission."

Following is an excerpt of the speech by featured scholarship student speaker Garry Jackson II:

I grew up in southern New Jersey, in the small town of Penns Grove. In my hometown, in recent years, there has been a dramatic increase in drug use and violence. A wise man once told me, “No matter who you are, no matter what you did, and no matter where you’ve come from, you can always change, and become a better version of yourself.” This motivated me to set high goals and to work my hardest to achieve them...

My family, who has been in my corner through it all, is here to support me today. My mother and father, who are my biggest fans, are my motivation. They managed to raise me and my siblings, seeing us through college despite being financially disadvantaged. After I complete my education, I plan to use my resources and knowledge to help revitalize my hometown...

This year I was awarded the Adriana Brennan Alumni Memorial Scholarship. I did not know Adriana personally, but I learned that she had a caring, fun-loving, enthusiastic personality that would brighten anyone’s day. She was a Kean University graduate as well as the alumni director. If she were here today she would be beaming with pride to know that a scholarship, in her honor, is supporting students in financial need at her beloved alma mater...

I want to challenge Kean alumni to continue their support by giving back so that young people will continue to follow their educational paths to success.

STUDENT PROFILE: NIGEL DONALD

Nigel Donald with scholarship donor Patricia M. Barksdale '95 at the 2014 Scholarship Recognition Ceremony and Luncheon.

Leadership Personified

Nigel Donald, Recipient, Patricia M. Barksdale Scholarship

Nigel Donald, the current recipient of the Patricia M. Barksdale Scholarship, is known to many Kean students as the vice president of Student Organization. They also know him as a caring person, but more than that, as someone who wants to make a positive difference in others' lives.

Donald is majoring in economics, minoring in political science, and is anticipating graduation in the spring of 2016. He joined Student Organization three years ago "to make a change, when I see something wrong, not only around campus, but in life." Whether attending meetings or posting on social media, Donald tries his best to voice the concerns of the student body and hear conflicting opinions about diverse on-campus topics.

"I would love for every student to know that I'm always here. Whether I'm a part of student government or not, my interest has always been representing the voice of the people. I've always worked with the understanding that the issues that concern those I represent have the potential to spread to me and countless others."

Despite having a busy life on campus, Donald still makes time for other activities. His hobbies, in his words, are "mainly collecting model aircraft and learning about the history of commercial air travel." Not only that:

"Currently I am teaching myself two different languages, Russian and Chinese." Donald also spends his downtime by "bonding and hanging out with my closest friends."

Many of those friends, and coworkers, know him as a "walking encyclopedia" of knowledge on many different topics. This may serve him well in light of his future ambitions: "At the end of my college life, I plan to take with me the ability to represent others properly and efficiently. My political ambitions don't stop at Student Organization. After college I have every intention of continuing my political ambitions on the local, state and federal levels, aspiring to one day become President of the United States."

President Donald does have a lovely ring. In the meantime, there's Student Organization. "My favorite part of Student Organization is the people themselves. From day one, they will always have your back and be there to assist you in anything you need help with, no matter if you are at your lowest point or at your highest and aspiring to be even greater."

Thanks to Kean student newspaper The Cougar's Byte and its editors for their permission to condense and adapt their original profile of Nigel Donald.

NU DELTA PI 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Golden Gathering

Left to right: Lifetime Achievement Award presenter and past recipient Frank Russo, with new award recipients Michael Kratt, Pat Hogan, Tom O'Donnell '72 '76, and Joe Filippone '93

On Friday, November 14 and Saturday, November 15, 2014, the brothers of Kean University's Nu Delta Pi fraternity marked the 50th anniversary of its founding with celebratory gatherings both on and off campus. On Friday, members convened in Union and took trolley tours to view the many physical changes on campus; this was followed by an informal get-together at Ursino restaurant, where they were joined by alumni members of Kean sororities. The following evening, approximately 180 guests—including undergraduate fraternity members—attended a formal soiree at the Doubletree Hilton in Tinton Falls, New Jersey.

At the Saturday evening event, the fraternity honored four brothers with its Lifetime Achievement Award, recognizing them for their continued service to Nu Delta Pi both during their college student days as well as in the years and decades since. The four recipients were brothers Joe Filippone '93, Pat Hogan, Michael Kratt, and Tom O'Donnell '72 '76. The total number of recipients of this award is now six; prior recipients are Frank Russo and Bill Jordan '88

Nu Delta Pi was founded at then-Newark State College in 1964. According to the fraternity's "Founding Father," Charlie Richter: "As freshmen, about 10 of us became close friends. As sophomores, we realized that we'd be receiving bids to join various established fraternities, and we'd be split up. We soon decided that since the whole point of Greek life is brotherhood and friendship, it would make the most sense for us to simply find a way to stay together. So eight of us created Nu Delta Pi, and the rest is 50-year-old history. Those same guys are still dear friends and brothers forever. Nu Delta Pi is one of the best things I ever accomplished in my life."

The brothers feel that the diversity of the membership of Nu Delta Pi is its great strength and distinguishing factor, says Dennis Mignone '92, one of the organizers of the 50th reunion.

The other organizers of the reunion included Filippone, Kratt, Richter, Michael Buono '88, Scott Buono '04, Doug Dale '91 '94, Eric Daly '92, Keith Dean '73, John Flemming '93, Saji George '95, and current students Rob Roberto and Terrance Somesla-McCornell.
